Wednesday	September 24, 2008 -----	6:00 to 8:00 pm

This workshop will be held at the Unitarian Universalist Church in Hillsborough, on 1710 Old NC 10

Parade Theme: The Waters of the Eno and Her Creatures

Tinka Jordy and Mark Donley will teach basic construction techniques using cardboard, paper mache bamboo and reed frame to make a mask, costume or giant puppet. This workshop is an opportunity to start a creation so you'll have time to finish it and join the parade on October 11. This will also be an opportunity for those who have already begun projects and are looking for a place to work and get some additional direction or ideas.

Bring an idea of a creature from the Eno River that you would like to create. The first workshop will include instruction and hands on construction. You will begin building your creation! The following two Wednesdays will be work sessions to continue working on your creations while working with others and sharing ideas and tips.

A donation for this workshop to defray costs is requested, but not required. All are welcome. Requested donation is $15.00 per family and $10 per individual.
